way tries to live the simple life.

Many messages of good wishes were received yesterday, but the larger number came to-day from all parts of the country. When an employee reminded him he was seventy-five Mr. Rockefeller said:

"All days look alike to me now. I enjoy playing golf. I enjoy my friends. I particularly enjoy the work on my estate and that I can give so many men employment. I like to see things moving and I hope to keep them moving for many years to come. It is hard to realize I am seventy-five, for I don't feel more than sixty."

An unidentified man leaped or fell 3.0 feet to instant death this morning from the viaduct connecting Jersey City Helghts vith Hoboken. Men on their way to work naw I le body hurtling through the air, but when they arrived on the spot where it struck, they were too late to be of assistance. The body was taken to Vogue's Morgue, where it lies unclaimed.

The fact that one of the man's shoes was caught in the steel railing of the bridge leads the police to believe the case one of suicide. No papers or other marks of identification were found. An unidentified man leaped or fell 3.0 every day, rain or shine, and in every
